

June 15, 2020

This open letter to policymakers and federal, state, and local officials was signed by 339 organizations and 1,356 people from all fifty states, plus the District of Columbia.

The COVID-19 crisis is testing our strength as a society. Across faith traditions, we believe that all people have inherent dignity and are deserving of basic human rights. When individuals are left to contract COVID-19 and die in detention facilities; deported inhumanely; or prevented from seeking the safety of asylum, we are not honoring that dignity or recognizing their humanity. These immigration policies are unacceptable to our faith communities, who see the image of God in every human being.

As people of faith, we call on the U.S., state, and local governments to:

Restore asylum protections. Seeking protection from violence and persecution is essential, as fleeing violence is not something that can “wait.” Asylum is an immediate safety need. Despite the Trump administration’s efforts to portray asylum-seekers in a negative light, they are doing what any of us would do in the same situation: trying to protect their families. The U.S. is required, both by our values and legal obligations, to accept and meaningfully consider asylum claims. The Trump administration has decimated the asylum system; COVID-19 is only the latest excuse. We cannot allow the administration to play politics with the lives of people who fled life-threatening situations and need protection.

Prevent family separation and family detention. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) has reportedly resumed asking detained parents to sign a form agreeing to be separated from their children in order to release them from detention, while forcing the parents to remain locked up indefinitely. It is unconscionable that ICE would continue to keep families locked up and expose them to even higher risk of contracting COVID-19 during a pandemic – or that ICE would separate them, leaving parents exposed to COVID-19 and children suffering the trauma of family separation. ICE must not create unnecessary harm by separating children from their parents but instead release families together using community-based alternatives to detention -- in the interest of public health -- while they continue to pursue their cases in court.

Free large numbers of individuals from federal, state, and local prisons and jails, starting with the medically vulnerable and elderly; those detained for parole violations or pre-trial; and those who have completed a substantial portion of their sentences. As doctors warned, without mass depopulation, our jails, prisons, and detention centers have become COVID hotspots. We cannot stand by and allow people to die from this virus through simple neglect and denial.

End the massive immigration detention system and allow detainees to go home to their families. Detained for civil immigration reasons, immigrants are contracting COVID-19 at alarming rates in ICE detention. Continuing to fight a deportation case is fast becoming a death sentence for some. Immigrants should be safe at home with their families and communities, not locked in a jail risking COVID and death.

Stop transferring and deporting people, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic. Transporting individuals from one jail to another, or deporting them to other countries, only spreads the virus and kills more people, while separating and traumatizing families. Continuing to do so especially at this time is both immoral and irresponsible. The rapid deportation of unaccompanied children and migrants seeking asylum violates both international law and our moral values.

Other nations have adopted a more humane approach. Spain completely emptied its migrant detention centers. Portugal granted permanent legal status to its immigrant residents, recognizing that the health and well being of every member of society depends on every other member. More than twenty European countries have allowed asylum seekers to enter, fulfilling their obligation to provide refuge for those fleeing violence and persecution.

As people of faith, our sacred texts remind us to accompany and walk with those in need. The call to love and welcome our neighbors is a value we share across religions. Let us demonstrate these values by restoring asylum; ceasing deportations; and releasing incarcerated individuals, made in the image of God, to go home to their families and communities.
